

A safe community is everyone's concern! That's why United Way of Dane County is joining with Madison Police to recruit community members to take part in a new program called Focused Deterrence. The program helped cut violent crime in High Point, North Carolina by 46% making it a model for the nation.

Learn how it works, why community involvement is crucial and how you can help make this program a success in Madison. Dr. Lee Hunt Crime Analyst from High Point Police Department & MPD Lieutenant Tom Woodmansee will make a presentation followed by input and discussion from community members.

When: Monday, June 13 from 4:30 to 6:00 p.m.

Where: United Way, 2059 Atwood Avenue, Madison

Who: Social Services, Non-Profit, Faith Based Organizations and Citizens of Madison

To RSVP: Call Angela Jones at 608-246-4376 or email at angela.jones@uwdc.org by Friday, June 10th

Snacks and beverages will be served!
